

BRIEF BIO OF LOIS SPATZ

Manager of, and Instructor in Project Open's Lincoln Towers University series.
jolospatz@gmail.com

MA & Ph.D. in Classics, Indiana University, MAT in Latin and Secondary Ed., The Johns Hopkins University, BA in Latin and Greek, Goucher College, 3 books on Athenian Drama and Greek Culture.

After thirty years as an English/ Classics Professor at the University of Missouri-Kansas City, I retired to San Francisco, where I taught Latin at San Francisco State and then classics in translation at The Fromm Institute of Lifelong Learning on the University of San Francisco campus. Coming to Lincoln Towers in 2011, I taught a semester of Greek Drama at NYU SCPS and then free classics courses here as a volunteer for Project Open.