

PROJECT OPEN AND LINCOLN TOWERS UNIVERSITY ANNOUNCE

A NEW SERIES OF

“POP UP LECTURES”

“Living In A Virus World”

Premiers Wednesday June 29, 2016

in the 185 WEA Community Room from 7:30 – 9:00 PM

Our speaker, Dr. Elodie Ghedin, is a Professor of Biology and a faculty member of New York University's Center for Genomics and System Biology.

Dr. Ghedin's laboratory uses new genomic technologies to study microbes, viruses and parasites.

The subject of living in a virus world is not only fascinating but very timely. Dr. Ghedin will be introduced by resident Sara Lustigman who directs the Laboratory of Molecular Parasitology of the New York Blood Center.

We look forward to seeing you there.
